These reactions are contrasted with more academic studies of the figure and still-life showing the students knowledge of design.

The exhibition has been organized by Mrs. W. Graham Campbell, vice-president of the Marion Art Center, and Mr. A. L. Domingoes, art teacher of Old Rochester Regional High School.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

According to a January 17th report in the Washington Post, Shriver's Office of Equal Opportunity is about to lavish $3.5 million upon the "Housing Development Corporation," in Washington, D. C., in an attempt to furnish housing to the poor in the Washington area.

The Post quoted from the prospectus that the Development Corp. will not only attempt to "achieve racial and economic integration, and to mix family sizes, but it will welcome welfare recipients, persons with criminal records, alcoholics, and men and women living out of wedlock"

Fellow taxpayers, do you like the fates of your tax dollars being used to subsidize housing for persons living in sin?

"THE FOUR SEASONS"

A musical revue called "The Four Seasons" was presented Saturday, February 19th, by the Couples Club of Mattapoisett Congregational Church for club members and their guests, the Marion Congregational Church's Couples Club. Because of numerous requests it was also presented to the public Tuesday, February 22nd.

The musical revealed many hidden talents not only in the members of the cast but in the artistic ability and imagination of the stage hands. The costume chairman, not only designed, but, with her committee, made the very beautiful and colorful crepe paper and sequined-satin costumes.

Mrs. Russell W. Chase directed this "hit" musical with the assistance of Mrs. Norman W. Roylance, planning co-ordinator. Assisting them were Herbert Arral, who designed and painted the stage set and scenery; Mrs. Jarvis C. Stratton, Mrs. Richard E. Chase and Mrs. Robert F. Seeley, properties; Mr. James E. Lamborghini, Robert P. Peirce, Barney Helfand, lighting; Mrs. William H. Huggard, Jr., Mrs. John Attorney Francis Murphy, Toastmaster, introduced many State and County officials seated at the head table or in the audience. A note was read from Sheriff Adnah H. Harlow, who is home following hospitalization. It was the first time he has been absent from any of the club's similar functions.

Mrs. Margaret Heckler, only woman Executive Councillor, as well as the only Republican, was a head table guest, as was Mrs. Edward Brooke, wife of the Attorney General.

Nine from Marion were in attendance, including Attorney Richard W. Paull, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, who is also first vice-president of the club; Mrs. Ellen Heuston, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Kathryn Ellis Nowak, secretary.

There were five from Rochester and five from Wareham.

One political observer was heard proclaiming, "The atmosphere here is one of confidence which has been absent for sometime!"

Mrs. Laura Boynton was reported ill. A letter was read from Mrs. Marian S. Hatton, first president of the Circle. Her husband is recovering slowly from a cerebral stroke. They now live in E. Washington, New Hampshire.

The secretary was authorized to write the chairman of the Education Committee regarding H.R. 1733, pertaining to silent meditation in public schools.

The following officers were re-elected: Mrs. Ruth W. Shaw, president; Mrs. Edna L. Borden, secretary; Mrs. Cynthia Power, treasurer; Mrs. Marjorie H. Wilson, chaplain.

The members exchanged valentines. Mrs. Minnie Tinkham was welcomed back from Florida.

A covered dish luncheon will feature observance of the Circle's sixth anniversary on March 15th at the Sunday School rooms.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Since a second letter has appeared denouncing UNICEF it does seem another letter attempting to objectively assess the accusations and innuendoes is called for. Surely any interested American wants to know what his personal contribution to UNICEF and the nation's commitment at large supports. When the scandal referred to by Mrs. Nowak came to my attention I decided to investigate the situation.

First of all, a letter from Paul B. Edwards, Chief, Public Information Division of UNICEF, records that the salary of the UNICEF employee in question was "considerably less than the figure quoted". Further, the UN correspondent for the Hearst newspaper that made the allegations remarked on the "commendable speed" with which Mr. Labouisse, American Executive Director of UNICEF resolved the issue. I do not believe UNICEF claims infallibility of operation anymore than does this democratic government under which we live.

For sober and helpful information which indicates the worthwhile aspects of UNICEF I would like to recommend to the reader the following material: 1. Speech by Hon. Walter H. Judd of Minn. Tuesday, August 14, 1962, in Congressional Record of 87th Congress (second session). 2. Vol. 109 - No. 174 Congressional Record of 88th Congress - Wednesday, October 30, 1963 (first session). 3. A pamphlet entitled "UNICEF - Monstrous or Merciful?" by Dr. Herman Reissing, international relations secretary of the Council for Christian Social

WELCOME TO THE THIRSTY WHALE

SOUTH PACIFIC THIS WEEK

The count down has begun on "South Pacific". The "low digit fidgets", as the astronauts describe the moments to lift-off, are being felt by cast, crew and directors. When the first curtain rises on Thursday evening at 8:15, the work of endless hours and countless pairs of hands will go into orbital stage. Viewers of the live action can relax in Old Rochester's Bristol Auditorium ringside seats and be transported by the energies of young thespians to another hemisphere.

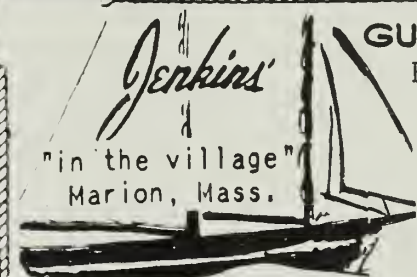

Among the unusual props to appear on stage are a shower rig where Nellie "washes that man right out of her hair", and the laundry where Luther Billis makes a fast buck for himself from his navy pals. Another of the water works is a fountain in Emile deBecque's garden.

It may be the first time residents in this area hear of a kiosk. A kiosk is an open ornamental summer house in Turkey now imitated in other countries and modified to serve as a booth, newstand, or the like. Bloody Mary uses hers as a push cart from which she nets a lucrative souvenir business.

The stage will be equally colorful with south sea island costumes. Sarongs may not be in vogue in the audience but will be the order of the day under the lights. The crew of the Escanaba has loaned uniforms and hats to the sea-bees while other costumes as well as stage sets have been rented.

The first hint of the goodies to come will be in the mau mau garbed usherettes. Distributing programs for all performances will be Kathleen Ellis, Elizabeth Harris, Louise Lester, Thailia McKenzie and Kathy Schaaf.

Advance sale of tickets predict large audiences.
